

Is it okay to put the fiber optic cable box in a cabinet

Overview

It keeps the wires organized on the back of the box and prevents any dust, dirt, or other debris from getting inside. Should I run conduit and put the fibre in it, or is it fine just to staple the fibre optic cable (with wire staples of course)?

I doubt it'll need replacing, but who knows. There are several reasons why you might want to hide your cable box in a cabinet: Let's face it: cable boxes are not exactly known for their sleek design or compact.
